BORIS THE SPIDER

A Journal of Duplicious Doings, Raw Power, and Naked Greed

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave
When first we practice to deceive."

---Sir Walter Scott---

7 May 96

SIX GAMES FINISH!

Congratulations go to all our new winners. Andy York, having inherited a so-so position from Flapjack McHugh, forced a decision in 1918 of "Boris VI". Apathy seems to have brought "Boris VII" to a sudden end as both recipients of a conceded draw failed to vote on the issue. Chuck Hanna and Wayne Morrison split the point with Dave Anderson conceding to them. Arad Gibil of the Peoples' Revolutionary Bank scored both Bourse victories, albeit it is alleged he had inside info (Sartarians are sneaky). Don Chinnery's Gianno the Eeeeeeep has the requisite cash and deeds to claim the win in MERCHANT OF VENUS: the only real contender there was Chris Hassler's Y.U.C.H. Finally, Dave Anderson and Dan Farrow scored a stalemate in "Simon Wagstaff", our second STELLAR CONQUEST game (but third to finish).

All this frees up about four pages for further mayhem. What to start? No plans for further Bourses as the three we tried quickly broke down to two-player contests. It's time to start one new DIP game and perhaps a variant. Possibilities are Gunboat, Balkan Wars, LandBridge DIP, Philly DIP, and Colonial DIP. Those interested in "Boris XI" or any of the variants should send along their druthers and their preference lists. After that, it's a toss up. If we can get 6-8 charioteers, we'll run another CIRCUS MAXIMUS. HISTORY OF THE WORLD would need six. MERCHANT OF VENUS would also need six. Other suggestions? GUNSLINGER?

We have two openings left in DOWN WITH THE KING. Contact us soonest if interested (e-mail or send a SAS postcard) and we'll join you up and clue you in on your hand and Turn 1 draws.

ALTERNATE ALERT: Seth Gunnar's Turkey in "Boris X" went NMR this time. Anyone interested in assuming the position should submit stand-by orders in case Seth again misses the deadline.

BORIS'S BULLETIN BOARD

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH: Like unfettered capitalism, complete freedom of expression is simply a means by which those with money and influence remake society at the expense of those without those things. ---Thomas Storck

BOOS & KUDOS

This month's Madame Bolduc Press Excellence Award (and free issue) goes Ron Fisher (again) for his "Oelo" article in "Boris X".

This month's Ma Nar Super-Suds Bomb is lobbed at they who NMRd.

WALL ST JOURNAL -- Church bells rang out, gongs sounded, choirs sang, the faithful were called to prayer, and the guns fell silent. Pax Britannica has extended its sway over most of the globe. But the Peace may prove a lot harder to win than was the war, all eighteen bloody years of it. Now we find out in Andrew, Duke of York, is a statesman of the same water as he is a warlord. We don't think the Hapsburgs and Romanovs will willingly suffer subjugation lightly nor for long. The World can only wait, and h

ERRATA: German A Vie H(u). Germany has 14 units (having forgotten to build last time), so may build 1 (2 if A VEN retreats otb).

MURKWOOD: In as underhanded a maneuver as has been witnessed in centuries, the Turkish government has forced an end to the war. After drowsing on a monotone for two hours after lunch on a hot, muggy afternoon, the Turkish Visier suddenly proposed an immediate armistice. The German and English delegations, suddenly awoken from their naps, and thinking it was a vote to adjourn, voted "aye". It wasn't for several hours that they realized what had happened, but couldn't well retract their votes. Peace thus descends over the breadth of Europe for the first time in 14 years.

True, MUN has been liberated, but a million beer-gdden Austrian soldiers are staggering towards BER and the Italians are ready to bag PAR. ROME: Foreign Minister Fisher announced the withdrawal of Italian forces from Turkey and an expansion of exploratory moves in France. "As to Northern Europe--well, it looks like the Austrians smacked a hornets nest. Their troops are running all over the place. I'm sure the Hun is very confused, as are we all."

MINAS MORGUL: Rumors of a Palace revolt have swept through Turkey and halted recruitment and production as the army has been ordered into barracks and the citizenry on dusk-to-dawn curfew. Germany has completed its initial call up of ground forces, being careful not to mobilize the reserve fleets so as not to bruise British sensibilities. France has chosen to wag its beard at these same sensibilities by building F BRE.

EMBASSY BEAT

OSLO: Sir Ronald expressed displeasure with the recent naval clash in neighboring SWE between Germany and Russia. "Dark clouds of conflict are gathering over Europe and I fear before long the Great Powers will be at each others' throats and innocent blood will spill as these vampiric neckties attack their barbers." He urged restraint, non-violent negotiations, and tasteful open-collars before heads are lost. In explaining the Home Fleet's involvement in the recent German excursion into BEL, he noted the German Naval Attaché, Gag Halfrunt, had requested assistance in a fishing cruise for the German Army's Recreation command. In a final note Sir Ronald apologized for the press release last season from Oslo, the press officer has been reassigned to pick up lunch at Milliways, and won't be back in this lifetime.

PARIS-LONDON: Giving Germany a land advantage is a mistake a lot of English Kings come to regret.

BORIS WORLD PRESS REVIEW

PR Rolls!

Achtung! BY station is in J6 not J4N. HE 3+3 run should have been L14N-J8-J4-13-11-K3 = 15 M/share. All but Butitta are at their certificate limit. BA has only one 3-train; BA earned 250M last OR, so bump MMF up by 20M. SX couldn't promote a #15 tile to a #63 at Leipzig, so it loses 10M off its last OR, debiting JB, DC, and RF.
